One year long effort of interaction with community to promote understanding and affirmation of redevelopment program. Leadership of multidisciplinary team to produce Master Plan for Redevelopment in compliance with community intent, city regulations and HUD requirements parallel to HOPE programs..

Summerhill, Atlanta, GA
Comprehensive master planning, development strategies and development coordination for the revitalization of 60 block inner city residential neighborhood in SE Atlanta. This effort is singularly notable because it has used a broad base of private and public partnerships to bring about a great mass of resources and good will to bear upon the solution of physical, human, spiritual, social, economic and other problems typical of inner city neighborhoods.

In addition, planning coordination was provided for the Urban Land Institute's Low Income Neighborhood Panel Analysis which visited the neighborhood to reaffirm and expand the Master Plan. This effort included writing and graphic design for the Briefing Book and ancillary materials. Following completion of the land use master plan, a substantive effort is now underway to develop a human services component along with physical plan implementation. The human services component will constitute a paradigm for implementation of the Atlanta Project initiative promoted by former President Jimmy Carter. Current implementation efforts include the definition and packaging of several landmark projects within the community to spur the revitalization effort in a significant way before the 1996 Olympic Games. These projects included:

• Greenlea Commons: Mixed Use complex along western edge of community to contain shops, restaurants, community retail and multifamily residential in affordable ranges.

• The Orchard: Mixed ownership single family subdivision.

• Martin Street Plaza: Refurbishing of 60 public housing units for tenant management and ownership. Effective leadership to facilitate transfer of property to tenants and create management mechanism for redevelopment funds.

• Reed Street Apartments and Duplexes: Refurbishing of 22 apartments and 8 duplex units.

• Single Family Housing: Construction of 150 single family units throughout the community.

• Housing Rehabilitation: Extensive rehabilitation of 200 homes within the next 5 years.

Acting pro-bono as Director of Planning and Architecture for Summerhill Neighborhood, Inc., Mr. Cruz chaired the Architecture Review Committee and coordinated all volunteer efforts by design professionals in the Summerhill community.

Techwood/Clark Howell Homes, Atlanta, GA
Early efforts to develop a Master Plan and Development Strategies for the revitalization of a 60 acre public housing neighborhood in the midtown area of Atlanta as part of PATH, a multidisciplinary team selected by the Atlanta Housing Authority after a public competition process. The task encompassed a community driven process of discovery, analysis and planning supported by financial analysis, sociological studies and extensive exploration of community models for potential relocation of tenants. Phase I was executed within a narrow 10 week time frame dictated by the need to fit conclusions and recommendations to the opportunities presented by the 1996 Olympic Games. The neighborhood sits on the edge of Georgia Tech and was the site for the Olympic Village.
