Smart
You can be responsible and have fun too! Partying responsibly is not a contradiction. This bulletin board will let you know how to have a good time and be safe too!
Pre-Party

- Be sure you know the person or people throwing the party
- Be sure that you were invited
- If you plan on drinking, decide how many you are going to have and stick to that number or have less
- If you plan on drinking, eat a meal before going out
- Know whom you are going with
- Plan how you and your friends are getting home
- Keep your valuables at home
- Always let someone know where you are going and when you should be expected
Party Time

- Keep your drink cup with you at all times. If you lose sight of your cup (even for a few seconds), get a new one. Club drugs are easy to slip into a drink.
- Keep track of how many drinks you've had.
- Know your limits. If you are going to drink, have a friend be sure that you aren't over-indulging yourself.
- Realize that it is okay to say “no thanks” if someone offers you a drink.
- Respect the party throwers' rules and requests.
Party Time

- If you are drinking, alternate alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks.
- Drinking should not be the focus of your having a good time at the party.
- Use the Buddy System to monitor your drink intake or keep you from flirting or hooking up with someone your friend knows you will regret outside of the party situation.
- Trust your instincts. If you start feeling extremely drunk and you know that you shouldn't, turn to your buddy and get out of the party.
Mocktails

- Keep in mind that not everyone at your party will be into drinking alcohol. Having non-alcoholic drinks available will show your guests that you are a responsible host.

Games

- Providing your guests with games to play at your party is a great way to ensure that everyone is having fun and staying out of unwanted trouble. Be sure the games you play don't focus on drinking because that is one of the main causes of binge drinking accidents on college campuses.

Food

- A responsible party host will not allow their guests to go hungry or drink alcoholic beverages on an empty stomach.
