Assistantships

Graduate assistantships are intended to provide qualified students with an opportunity to develop teaching, research, and general professional skills while providing support to the department.

Benefits

- Stipend
- Tuition waivers

Requirement

 Undergraduate cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher on a 4.0 scale

Preference

 Undergraduate major in biology with background in chemistry and physics

Primary Responsibility

Laboratory Teaching Assistant

Application

You may apply for an assistantship as part of the departmental admission application process.

Application review begins February 1.

For More Information

Department of Physiology and Health Science Cooper Science Building, CL 325 Ball State University Muncie, IN 47306

E-mail: physlhlthsci@bsu.edu Telephone: (765) 285-5961

Apply Online

www.bsu.edu/health/academics/grad

Faculty

Marie Kelly-Worden, PhD

Investigation of synaptic transmissions and auto immune responses. Um in heniatem nonsequam irit dip esenim augait volore feuisse quisim niat, commolorem veliquamet ex euip ero corero odolent lutatue modio dip et ilismolorper sum deliquatie ero enisi. Er aute euis ea at. Ting eraesti onsequis ero odit vulla core vel ipit prat. Uscilis ad te dio eum dolore dolum.

Najma Javed, MD, PhD

Multilevel investigation involving interaction of neural, immune and endocrine mechanisms in human gastrointestinal disorders.

Marianna Zamlauski-Tucker, PhD

Investication of mechanisms of injury at the organ, cellular and molecular levels in the rat kidney in vivo, and in the isolated perfused rat kidney preparation. Interest in determining the effects of factors, such as age, dietary antioxidant supplementation, and ischemia-reperfusion injury, on alterations in the mitochondrial levels of reduced glutathione.