Aligning Evidence to Goals
Evidence is comprised of the student work aligned to goals. In other words, the assessments instructors give their students serve as evidence that they are achieving student-learning outcomes.

Only the instructor of the course has the ability to align students’ completed assignments to goals.

Align the Students’ Completed Assignments to Goals
- Enter the Blackboard Learn course. (Not Outcomes Assessment)
- Go to the course containing the assignment, and go to the content area where the assignment is contained.
- When you hover over the name of the assignment, an action link will show. When you click the action link, a menu will appear.
- Click Add Alignments from the menu.
- After you click Add Alignments, you will be taken to the page of Outcomes Assessment with all the goals that have been entered into Outcomes Assessment (not just your own goals). To filter the list and see the goal with which you will align the assignment, click on the Goal Set on the left and select your department.
- When you find the goal you want to align, click the box to the left of the goal with which you want to align your assignment.
- Click Submit.
