Applicants will submit the relevant information for the requested membership category using the procedures described below on the graduate faculty application cover sheet. For full membership and the doctoral committee chair endorsement, approval will be in effect for six years. For associate and assistant memberships, approval will be in effect for three years; exceptions are granted under some circumstances. Required materials for each category are outlined below.

Be sure to indicate whether the faculty member is applying for full membership with a dissertation chair endorsement, full membership, associate membership, or assistant membership. Tenured, tenure-track, and full-time contract faculty can be considered for either full, associate, or assistant graduate faculty status. Part-time faculty are eligible for associate or assistant memberships only.

Full Membership

Applicants must submit a current vita (full or abbreviated). Abbreviated vitas covering only the last six years are encouraged. The vita must list educational history, including highest degree earned. If a full vita is submitted, please indicate evidence of scholarly competence during the last six years by listing most recent entries first, by use of a bold or italicized font, or by highlighting the appropriate evidence.

The department chair or chair of the committee that evaluates graduate faculty applications must submit a graduate faculty application cover sheet (see pages of this document) describing how the applicant meets the criteria for membership as outlined in the department document. This can be concise and to-the-point. Use of bullet points is encouraged. The cover sheet usually should not exceed one page in length.

*The cover sheet contains signature lines for the representative designated in your departmental document (department chair or chair of committee that evaluates graduate faculty applications), the college dean, and the graduate dean. Note: Department chairs (or committee chairs) and deans must not sign their own applications.

Faculty who hold full graduate faculty status may:

- Teach graduate level courses
- Chair a master’s thesis, creative project, or research project
- Serve as a committee member on a master’s thesis or creative project
- Serve as committee member for a doctoral committee
- Serve on or chair a specialist committee
Doctoral Committee Chair Endorsement

Remember that this endorsement is required for those who are chairing a doctoral committee. Applicants for this endorsement must have an earned doctorate.

*The cover sheet accompanying the application should designate the full with doctoral chair endorsement (terminal degree required) option.

*The department memo should specify how the applicant meets the criteria for this endorsement as outlined in the department document.

Faculty who hold full graduate faculty status with a doctoral committee chair endorsement may:

- Teach graduate level courses
- Chair a doctoral dissertation in the department of status approval
- Chair a master’s thesis, creative project, or research project
- Serve as a committee member on a master’s thesis or creative project
- Serve as committee member for a doctoral committee
- Serve on or chair a specialist committee

Associate and Assistant Membership

*Applicants must submit a current vita (full or abbreviated) or resume. The vita must list educational history, including highest degree earned. The vita should address qualifications in their area of expertise as related to graduate education and the specific role the applicant will fulfill if approved.

*The graduate faculty application cover sheet should describe how the applicant meets the criteria for membership as outlined in the department document. The cover sheet must include information about the duties the applicant will perform for the department (e.g., specific courses to be taught (associate membership); committee membership). Graduate School approval will apply only to the areas covered in the application. The information provided can be concise and to-the-point. Use of bullet points is encouraged.

*The cover sheet contains signature lines for the representative designated in your departmental document (department chair or chair of committee that evaluates graduate faculty applications), the college dean, and the graduate dean. Note: Department chairs (or committee chairs) and deans should not sign their own applications.

Faculty who hold associate graduate faculty membership may:

- Teach graduate level courses
- Serve as a committee member, but not as chairpersons of thesis or creative projects
Faculty who hold assistant graduate faculty membership may:

- Serve as a committee member, but not as chairpersons of thesis or creative projects
To: Department Chairs
Re: Information to include on Graduate Faculty Application Cover Sheets

Thank you for your assistance in nominating colleagues for graduate faculty status.

It is helpful if all graduate faculty application cover sheets include this basic information:

1. Name of Department
2. Name of person being recommended for (re)appointment to graduate faculty.
3. BSU ID # of applicant
4. Category of graduate faculty membership requested
   a. Full (terminal degree required)
   b. Full with doctoral chair endorsement (terminal degree required)
   c. Associate (terminal degree required)
   d. Assistant
5. Candidate’s highest degree earned
6. Brief summary of candidate’s activities that support departmental recommendation
   a. Use bullet points
   b. Limit to 3-5 major points, if possible
   c. Focus on criteria for category
7. For associate and assistant categories, be sure to include what special need the person will fill.
8. Signature lines - department chairs (or committee chairs) and deans must not sign their own applications.
   a. Appropriate departmental representative typed with signature (i.e., department committee chair or department chair)
   b. College dean typed with signature
   c. Graduate Dean
