8. Questions Directed to the President

President Gora reported the following:

- A $20M Capital Campaign is underway to support athletics facilities. Approximately $12.893M has been raised so far, which is approximately 65% toward the goal. The campaign must be completed by December, 2014.
- The Board of Trustees will hold their meeting on May 3
- The new Masters of Science degree in Software Engineering (MSSE) through the College of Sciences of Humanities has been submitted to the Commission on Higher Education.
- May 4 is commencement. Jeffrey D. Feltman, undersecretary general for political affairs at the United Nations, and a 1981 graduate of Ball State, will be the commencement speaker. He will also be meeting with students from Honors College.
- She will be sending out a President’s Perspective in the next day or two that will have information regarding the legislative session, which should end Monday, April 29, but may end as early as tomorrow, April 26. The next step will be to establish the budget for the next two years, as well as tuition and fees for the next biennium. This is all contingent on the amount of support from the State. It is a fairly long process, which includes a ten-day notice period after announcing the tuition and fees for next year.
9. Question and Answer Period
There were no questions.

10. Unfinished Business
There was no unfinished business.

11. New Business
A. Revisions to University Core Curriculum (University Senate Agenda, 4/25/13, Enclosure #4)
   A motion was made and seconded (Steib/Shawger) to place on the floor for discussion.
   Murray Steib, chair of the Undergraduate Education Committee, was available to discuss the revisions to the document.
   Discussion ensued. There was concern that certain departments are overriding the prerequisite issue. Does advising follow the curriculum map by the department or constraints of the Core? Murray stated that Banner should be catching the prerequisites and stop registration. The Provost indicated that if this is adopted as a policy of the institution, then the department needs to look at their department policies and make them in line with the institution’s policies.
   The motion to approve the revisions carried.

B. Student Code Revisions (University Senate Agenda, 4/25/13, Enclosure #5)
   A motion was made and seconded to place on the floor for discussion.
   Michael Gillilan, Director of Student Rights and Community Standards, was available to answer questions concerning the revisions. Mike explained these revisions were streamlining the 2013-14 code and to come into line with the Office of Civil Rights suggestions.
   A question was asked by a senate member regarding the different centers around the world in which our students participate. There are also student teaching opportunities in other areas of the world. Do these policies apply to everyone who is a student of the university? Mike replied that it does apply to these students, but there are additional criteria. It depends on exactly what is happening with these learning experiences.
   The motion to approve the Student Code Revisions carried.

C. Undergraduates and Graduate work (University Senate Agenda, 4/25/13, Enclosure #6) SEE PAGE ONE

D. Revisions to University Promotion and Tenure Document (University Senate Agenda 4/25/13, Enclosure #7)
   Keith Kothman, chair of the University Promotion and Tenure Committee (UP&T) was present at today’s meeting to answer questions and participate in the discussion.
   The following points were discussed:
   • The statement that the votes will accompany the recommendations when forwarded to the Provost/President was mistakenly left out of the revisions received by the members; however, the onscreen document is correct and includes this statement in 1.12 and 2.21.
   • There was considerable discussion concerning the membership of the department committee. Currently, the document states that the majority of the membership will be tenured faculty, and that tenure-track faculty, in their fourth year or above may also serve on this committee. The President does not know of another institution that has non-tenured faculty on their promotion and tenure committees and believes leaving the membership as it stands is a conflict of interest. She believes there are other solutions if there is not sufficient tenured faculty in the department to serve on the committee.
A motion was made and seconded to amend the membership of the department committee to add “tenure track faculty, in their fourth year or above, are eligible to serve on the department committee.”

The motion to amend the membership carried.

After further discussion, a motion was made and seconded (Stamp/Stone) to amend the membership of the department committee to add “the department committee shall consist of only tenured faculty.”

The motion to amend the membership carried.

A motion was then made and seconded (Closson/Thurman) to remove “or tenure-track” from the membership of the committee, in the spirit of the amendment to include only tenured faculty on the department committee.

The motion carried.

- A senate member requested clarification on the year-four review. Keith responded that the College of Sciences and Humanities usually works with subcommittees (such as for document approval). It is a committee that is a part of the whole. The UP&T supports naming it Subcommittee A and Subcommittee B, because of the number of faculty for review at the college level.

- With regard to the department having two representatives, this is up to the college. The UP&T only specifies that the college committee be made up of only tenured faculty. Further, some allow department chairs, while others prevent them from being a member of the committee.

- These revisions would be in place for the academic year, 2013-14, and will be working in fall, 2014. It will go into effect when the administration approves it, but departments/colleges will apply the review process sin fall, 2014.

- Year six is a conditional decision for tenure, but if you’re promoted in year six, you’re promoted. If this is ahead of tenure next fall, this is ahead of the implementation of the new policies and we will not deal with it. Those gaining tenure without being promoted, do not automatically get tenure before the policies take effect.

- For informational purposes, the majority of departments allow non-tenured faculty members on the promotion and tenure committee. Some decreased the number of people on the committee to adjust for the lack of tenured faculty. The Provost added if the membership of the department promotion and tenure committee remained as it was (allowing non-tenured faculty on the committee), he would analyze of other universities to see what others are doing.

After discussion, a motion was made and seconded (Ledbetter/Thurman) to approve the document to include the revisions made at today’s meeting.

The motion carried.
