Information for Faculty/Staff Regarding Responding to Medical Emergencies

If a student experiences a medical emergency on campus, (such as a seizure, diabetic shock, or heart-related concerns)

1. Call University Police (765) 285-1111 immediately. Call even if a student has made a request in advance to not be taken to the hospital.
2. University Police will arrange for medical assistance or assessment by a medical professional.
3. Someone should remain with the student waiting for emergency personnel to arrive.

Specific information relative to responding to seizures can be found in the university’s seizure policy: bsu.edu/about/administrativeoffices/disability-services/facultyresources/policies/emergencyresponse.

 Concerned faculty and staff who witness a student experience multiple medical emergencies in the classroom or elsewhere on campus, may contact the Behavioral Intervention Team at (765) 285-3734. BIT will determine options to support the student and respond to the situation.
