

Masters of Arts in Curriculum and Educational Technology

Program Information

The Masters of Arts in Curriculum and Educational Technology is a 30-hour program designed for educators seeking to integrate technology into K12 curriculum and other instructional contexts where teaching and learning occur.

Graduates are prepared to become leaders within their instructional contexts by coursework and experiences that focus on development of a conceptual framework in which technology is an embedded aspect of the teaching and learning process. The program prepares graduates to utilize technology to meet learning needs of students and to critically examine technology's ever-changing presence within schools and society.

Application Process

Prospective students should apply to the Graduate College and provide official transcripts from all universities/colleges attended. A student seeking admittance for a Masters degree must meet the following minimum criteria:

- Hold an earned bachelor's degree from a college or university that is accredited by its regional accrediting association.
- Have one of the following:
  - An undergraduate cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 on a scale of 4.0
  - A cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 on a 4.0 scale in the latter half of the baccalaureate.

Additional Information regarding application and admission to the graduate college can be found at the following website.

DECISION POINTS

Decision Points are used throughout the M.A. in Curriculum and Educational Technology as checkpoints on student progress and for the purpose of NCATE accreditation. Once you have been accepted into the program you must first meet with an advisor to develop your Plan of Study (POS). Your POS will be your guiding document that maps out your progress through the program.

Decision Points 2 & 3 map your progress through the core courses and key assessments within the program. Decision Point 4 charts the completion of course requirements and electives, along with the final assessments that demonstrate your understanding of key concepts and principles related to technology integration for teaching and learning.
