Spreading Hope

By Emilee Wolfley

A fellow student who receives Chapter 33 benefits has been described as an outstanding volunteer and exceptional person.

Victorin Scotland, a senior at Ball State, has been giving his free time to the Harvest soup kitchen here in Muncie. On Mondays and Wednesdays, he volunteers his time to cook hot meals and serve the less fortunate in our community. He comes across all kinds of diverse people and enjoys helping them. Scotland believes that volunteering gives his life greater purpose. Instead of living for himself, he is living for others. In his words, he volunteers because it helps "spread hope." Scotland has been described by others around him as a lovable, friendly, compassionate guy. It is clear that he loves helping others and believes in the work he is doing. Scotland says that he volunteers because it helps him to grow as a person, and he wants others to do the same. In response to veterans, he says that volunteering as he does is similar to what veterans do for the country. Both volunteer their time to protect and help citizens from outside dangers. Veterans here at Ball State are encouraged to volunteer their time for those they protected. It is just another way that you can help the community that you are a part of.

Career Search

By Emilee Wolfley

It's getting closer to the end of a school year and you need to start looking for jobs...so where do you start? If you're about to graduate, you may benefit from attending one of the Career Center's informative discussions on where and how to look for careers after graduation. They are held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week.

Visit this site by copying and pasting into your web browser for more information: <https://apps.bsu.edu/CommunicationsCenter/Story.aspx?CategoryID=117&MessageGuid=148FD00D-6F56-4269-9FCB-C4567B14F031&OptIn=Y>.

It's intimidating looking for jobs, especially fresh out of school, so consider asking the Career Center for some guidance. Even if you're not ready for a full time career, the Career Center can still set you up with a great part-time on-campus job or even an internship or off-campus job. If you have a lot of free time, consider some work experience or volunteering like Victorin Scotland does. Develop your resume, fine tune your interviewing skills, or look into graduate schools while at the Career Center. They have several resources and are full of helpful, knowledgeable staff that can lead you in a successful direction.
