

Organizing Your Studies

Organization is such a key component of academic success, many of our messages will relate to building skills in this area. One step that is useful to take at this time is to set up tutoring appointments for your classes. You may feel it is too early to get a tutor since you haven't had any tests yet and so you don't know how you'll do in your classes. Don't think of tutoring as something you put in place only if you are struggling in a class. Yes, it's there if that situation arises, but it is available for much broader access than that. Tutoring is available to any enrolled student. We want to meet you where you are and help you advance.

We can help clarify concepts, provide practice with procedures; and basically, help you take the next step in understanding the material. At this point in the semester, one suggestion is to get a Study Strategies tutor. This person can help you get organized and apply study tips to the classes you are taking.

How Do I Get a Tutor?

*Contact the Learning Center by coming to North Quad 323, or calling 285-1006.

*Upon entering the LC, stop at the reception desk. The office staff will ask your name and BSU ID number. There are four main areas within the Learning Center and the staff person will direct you to the appropriate area. Contact information for the four areas is included in this email. Appointments can also be made by calling the desk numbers below or by contacting Jackie or Gary.

*Frequently, students can get appointments the same day, or within a day or two. It depends on the tutor's and your schedules.

*In all tutoring areas, weekly appointments can be set so you will have the same appointment time and tutor and in Math and Writing walk-in appointments are often available. Students are always encouraged to set an appointment in advance to ensure that someone will be available.
