THE PURPOSE OF GREEK WEEK:

Greek Week is designed to bring about unity throughout the Ball State University Greek Community. All of the events have been planned to cater to all Greek members and appeal their best interests. The week is created not only as another time for brothers and sisters to spend more time together, but to also forge new friendships amongst Greek members. Greek Week seeks to instill the importance of being not only a member of a respective chapter, but also a member of the Greek Community. This week further exemplifies Ball State University's Greek Life slogan: "For Now, For Tomorrow, Forever."

ALCOHOL, DRESS POLICY, AND RESPECT:

Anyone who has been consuming alcoholic beverages will not be permitted to participate or watch any Greek Week event. Greek Week is week of fun-filled events that can be experienced normally and not under any type of drug or substance. If a person is under suspect of drinking or is visibly intoxicated, they will be nicely asked to leave the venue. If the person or persons do not cooperate, University Police will be called and handle the situation.

Proper attire will be expected out of every participant and attendee at any Greek Week event. Anyone dressing inappropriately or in distaste will be asked kindly to leave the venue. Dressing up for certain events is more than welcomed, especially theme-related costumes. However, dressing inappropriately at Grand Chapter will not be tolerated.

Respect will also be expected out of every participant and attendee at any Greek Week event. Disrespectful behaviors, inappropriate comments, and/or rude comments will not be tolerated. Offenders of such offenses will be nicely asked to leave the venue. Greek Week is a fun experience with the sole purpose of celebrating the accomplishments of Greek life at Ball State University. Be proud of being Greek and show that pride respectfully to other members in the community.
