

Step 5.3: Research Programs on Your List

Devising a Program Worksheet

To analyze your preliminary possibilities, we suggest that you use a program worksheet similar to the applicant worksheet you used in step 5.1. You will maintain separate worksheets for each program (not school or department, because more than one program may be housed in the same institution) that you are intending to investigate. This strategy has several advantages:

- Having a worksheet will save you the time of writing down the same headings repeatedly for numerous programs.
- A worksheet can also be used as a checklist to ensure that you have acquired all of the pertinent information for each program.